Young Coastal Scientist and Engineers Conference
23–24 March 2015

The Young Coastal Scientists and Engineers Conference (YCSEC) was set up in 2005 to help develop an integrated UK coastal research community.

The 11th YCSEC will bring together young researchers and practitioners concerned with physical coastal processes. Disciplines include oceanography, geography, geology and engineering.

We encourage attendance from post-graduate students, post-doctoral university researchers, junior engineers, scientists and researchers in private companies and government agencies.

- Guest speaker Professor Vladimir Nikora, University of Aberdeen
- Awards for Best Presentation and Best Poster
- Networking dinner and field excursion
- Free post-conference short course
